THROUGH TRACK

Traction Company Will Pass

Through Fair Ground.

If Made on the Proposed Line

Track Cannot Be Used—Grand

Stand on Line Also.

If the Interurban company goes out of this city going east, by the route they are figuring on at present, it will run through the race track, of the fair grounds and where the grand stand is now located, and spoil the course for racing purposes.

While the line out of the city is not definitely known, that route is the most feasible one, taking into consideration the location of the power house, the grading and other conditions.

The company have never indicated definitely their intention to go through the grounds, but the engineer will be here Saturday to confer with the directors of the Fair Association about the matter.

One of the directors of the company said if it went through the grounds at all it would go right through the race track and the place where the grandstand is now located, so that the track will be ruined for racing purposes, but the chief engineer of the traction company said there would still be room for a half mile track.

Representatives of the traction company are said to have offered or will offer at a meeting of the Fair directors, Saturday, to pay the damages to the fair ground and to construct a new race track exactly like the one there now and to move the grand stand to its proper place.

If it develops that the race track cannot be built upon the ground remaining there is land adjoining the grounds that can be procured by the association.

If any of the changes are made they will not be made until after the coming fair, so that it will not be interfered with in the least.

The present track has been in use over thirty years. The association has held county fairs here for nearly half a century.

BASE BALL GAME.

Local High School Plays the

Shelbyville High School

Here Saturday.

The Rushville High School base ball team will play the Shelbyville High School, in this city, the coming Saturday.

The game will probably be played on the West First street ground.

A large crowd of rooters from Shelbyville will accompany their team to this city. The local High School team will be liberally supported and a good game is promised. The Rushville boys are practicing diligently this week and feel confident of winning.

The game is the first of the High School's season for 1904 and will be followed by a game the following Saturday with Carthage at that place.

One Hundred Thousand.

Dr. Frank Green has received another letter from Mr. Panian, the New York chemist, who says that he has placed the price of the Kiplinger well at $100,000. He also states that nearly fifty people have been trying to buy the well. If the well is sold to one of these New Yorkers, Rushville may have a health resort near.

W. R. C. Social.

The W. R. C. will be entertained by Mrs. George Caldwell, at her home on First street, this evening.

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS

Ring is in Full Control In all the Wards.

The Democratic Ward meetings to select candidates for councilmen and delegates to the city convention next Monday night, were held last night, and the candidates that were suggested by the "Big Five" yesterday, were nominated easily.

In the Third ward an effort to break the combine was made, and Donald Smith and Harry Kramer, two of as good Democrats as had been mentioned in that connection were mercilessly turned down.

"Buddy" Wilson is said to have coveted a desire to be returned, but knowing the desires and power of the "fellows that run things" he modestly refrained from being a candidate. "Buddy" has made a good councilman and the reasons for turning him down are, of course, not known.

The ticket as nominated is as follows: Councilmen—First ward, John B. Wehrle and John Abernathy; Second ward, Albert Smiley and John Meredith; Third ward, George Caldwell and Mark Purcell.

Both Horses Down.

A horse belonging to Harry Kramer and which he uses in his delivery wagon, ran away on Main street, this morning and turned east on Second street, running into Mauzy & Denning's wagon which stood near the curb. The wagons came together with a crash and in some manner or other both horses got down on the ground. They were assisted to their feet, and besides a few breaks in the harness, little or no damage was done.

Granted Leave of Absence.

The Indianapolis papers, yesterday announced that Consul Gowdy had been granted a sixty days' leave of absence, and would come to America to settle up some business affairs and to visit for a few weeks. Mention of his intention to pay this county a visit as soon as a leave of absence could be obtained was made in the Republican of March 8th.

THE PRESBYTERY

Met Today in This City—Interesting Program Tonight

Rev. R. P. Cooke Elected Moderator. Rev. W. P. McGarey of this City, Clerk.

The Presbytery of Indiana met at the U. P. church in this city this (Tuesday) afternoon at 1:30. The meeting was attended by a large number of ministers and delegates from all over the State.

The opening sermon by the retiring Moderator Lytle was an eloquent appeal for unselfish Christian living.

The discussion this afternoon was very interesting. Rev. R. P. Cooke was chosen moderator and W. P. McGarey, clerk, for the coming year. The program for tonight's session is as follows:

TUESDAY NIGHT SESSION.

Rev. Edgar McDill, of Madison, Ind., to preside.
"The Church—Her Worship and Her Work," 7:00 Devotional, Led by Rev. H. Rabb, Mays, Ind.

7:10 Address—"The Mormon Octopus, the Church's Enemy," by Rev. Charles M. Lawrence, Indianapolis.

Duet by Miss Inez Abbott and Prof. T. A. Craig.

7:40 Some Questions Answered Concerning The Public Worship by Rev. H. M. Jamison, Bloomfield.

The Bible School, by Rev. T. W. Schmunk, Milroy.

The Mid-week Prayer Meeting, by Rev. R. P. Cooke, Glenwood.

The Finances of the Church, by Rev. Neil Ferguson, Greensburg.

The Ideal Communion, by Rev. J. P. Cowan, D. D., Indianapolis.
(Above discussions to be limited to ten minutes each. If you have questions to ask, hand them to the speakers or the clerk, W. P. McGarey).
Song by Prof. Craig.
8:30 Adjournment.

AN AGREEMENT

Candidates For City Offices May Bind Themselves.

To Refrain from Buying Any Votes at Shelbyville City Election.

The following agreement has been drawn up and is being passed to all the candidates for office in Shelbyville, of both parties and if signed by all, will be enforced. It is an iron-clad agreement and is detrimental to the business and financial interests of the "hoodler."

"To the end that the law may be respected and the manhood of many citizens not debauched, and to the further end that candidates for office at the coming May election in Shelbyville, may submit their candidacy to the people for their suffrage, uninfluenced by corrupt use of money in buying votes and otherwise to corruptly influence votes, we the respective chairmen of the Democratic and Republican committees, together with each candidate for city offices to be voted for on May 3, 1904, do solemnly pledge ourselves, our party workers and our candidates not to subscribe, donate, contribute, pay or cause to be paid, either directly or indirectly through ourselves or otherwise, any money or article of value by note, paper or pledge, the same to be used for the purchase of any voter at said city election to cast his ballot for any candidate in said election, or to remain away from said election and not vote for any candidate. We pledge ourselves further not to contribute to, or cause to be contributed, or paid by us, either directly or indirectly, any money or its equivalent in value in any form whatsoever into any fund for the purchase of votes at the above named election, either before or after such election is held, or on the day of said election. We further agree not to spend, contribute or pay, any assessment that others may seek to levy upon us, or either of us, for the expenses of said election other than a reasonable sum for the necessary and legitimate expenses incurred by ourselves, or our party committees. And it is agreed that such expense account of both party committees shall be for absolute legitimate purposes, and such expense account shall be open to the inspection of two committees, one of the others, accounts after said election shall have been held. To prove our good faith to the people and to one another, we, the several candidates whose names are herewith affixed, agree to surrender any claim we may have to the office to which we aspire should we be elected and should it be shown to the satisfaction of Harry S. Downey, David L. Wilson, Isaac Carter and Ed. K. Adams that we or either of us, or the chairman of our party committee, has violated any of the above propositions with our knowledge and consent. We all agree that the purpose of this agreement is to prevent the purchase of votes by money or any article of value, equivalent to money, at the election on May 3, 1904."

HIGH-HANDED SNAP.

Chairmen Meet in Rushville and Dispose of Positions in Advance of Convention.

(Shelbyville Liberal.)

Rushville, Ind., April 4th.—The chairmen of the several counties in the Sixth Congressional district met here today for the evident purpose of disposing with a district convention, composed of delegates from each county, which has the right to name the delegates to the national convention, alternates and elector.

By a set up job the meeting today arrogated to itself the power to say which counties should have the various positions.

It was decided to give the national delegates to Hancock and Decatur counties, the alternates to Shelby and Wayne, and the elector to Henry county. The question is, will the great Democratic party permit of such arrangement and disposition of its affairs? Why hold a district meeting, composed of State delegates if such a "snap" proceeding is to stand? The thing was cut and dried by the State committeeman John Megee in the interest of Judge Parker.

NOT READY TO STRIKE

Active Preparations are Going Forward Under Cover of Silence

Not a Scrap of Real Information on the Situation Has Come out in Ten Days

Chefoo, April 5.—There was another bombardment of Port Arthur April 3, but there are no authentic details of the engagement available.

St. Petersburg, April 5.—As the time approaches for the opening of land operations on a large scale, the Russian authorities are exercising greater vigilance to prevent the news of their plans for the disposition of troops in the theater of war from going abroad. For ten days not a scrap of real information, except such as is contained in official dispatches, has been given out or has come from the front. There practically exists an embargo upon news dispatches.

It is as if an impenetrable curtain had suddenly been rung down on the stage of war in east Asia. Behind this curtain the greatest activity prevails. General Kuropatkin, at his temporary headquarters in Liao Yang, is directing the execution of his plans, moving the troops, strengthening the positions selected and otherwise looking after the organization and innumerable wants of the army in the field.

That the general's plan of campaign has been worked out, and that it involves the playing of a waiting game until the disposition of the army has been completed, can be stated with positiveness. It can also be stated that these plans are progressing even more rapidly than expected. Every day is now considered a distinct gain for the Russians and as distinct a loss for the Japanese. For this reason it can be confidently predicted that the Russians will not do more than harass the Japanese advance in Korea. The gradual withdrawal of the Russians does not mean anything as determining the fighting capacities of the men of the respective armies; it is part of the Russian tactics.

The melting of the snow in a mountainous country will render impassable in the spring the roads over which the Japanese must come, and this is considered to be almost as effective an opposition as a Russian army corps. The Russians also count upon a Japanese flanking movement in connection with a frontal attack, and therefore a Russian force has been disposed along the Tumen to prevent the entrance of a Japanese column there. Another flanking movement is expected at the head of the Liao Tung gulf near New Chwang, and everything there is being prepared to receive the enemy; but for the present the Russian military authorities believe that the Japanese game at this point has been blocked by the failure of the attempts to bottle up and render immobile the fleet of Vice Admiral Makaroff, which, while free, will be too great a menace to the movement of Japanese transports into the gulf of Pechili. Another effort to block Port Arthur is consequently expected daily.

One of the principal reasons for Viceroy Alexieff's visit to Port Arthur is understood to have been to consult Vice Admiral Makaroff with a view to devising plans for defeating those attacks. It is hinted in high quarters that the next time the Japanese appear off Port Arthur they will find a surprise awaiting them. Viceroy Alexieff has returned to Mukden.

THE WAR'S FIRST STAGE

Finds Japan in Complete Possession of Korea.

London, April 5.—Eight weeks from the opening of the war sees Japan, without any real fighting, apparently in complete possession of Korea and the first stage of the campaign ended.

According to a Kobe correspondent who telegraphs under date of April 4, a Ping Yang dispatch has been received there confirming the report from Shanghai that Japanese scouts entered Wiju, Korea, on Monday, and that the Russians apparently retreated beyond the Yalu river, but no further news of any kind is to hand, throwing light on either land or sea operations. Everything, however, is regarded as pointing to the imminence of important developments.

A Seoul correspondent asserts that the landing of Japanese troops at Chinnampo has now ceased, but that the port is guarded by a large fleet and the Japanese base has moved north from Ping Yang, where only a few troops now remain. A correspondent at Tokio reports that the Japanese correspondents at the front who followed the army through the Chino-Japanese war express great surprise at the improvement of the Japanese troops during the past decade. The improvement is noticeable alike in equipment, organization and discipline, and more especially in the educational standard of the men.

Latest From the Front.

Chefoo, April 5.—The Nippon Yusen Kaisha has resumed its service between Korea and northern China with foreign steamers. The first steamer has arrived from Chemulpo and from the passengers it was learned that the last contingent of Japan's first army landed in Korea March 30. The army consists of 50,000 men, including coolie carriers. Japan has made Anju a frontal base, and has bridged the Chang Chung and Pak Chung rivers, and is ready to advance by three roads to the Yalu river. It will probably be a month, however, before a big battle will be fought, as the artillery moves slowly on account of poor horses and the bad management of the horses. Otherwise the organization of the Japanese forces is almost perfect. An immense quantity of supplies is going forward by coolie carriers.

SOCIETY EVENT

Easter Dance at the Social Club An Elaborate Affair.

The Decorations and Music Were of High Order—Many Out of Town Guests Present.

The Easter dance given by the members of the Social club last night, at their club rooms on First street, was quite an elaborate affair. The dancing hall, on the second floor of the club house, was beautifully decorated in Easter lilies and other flowers of rare beauty and fragrance, tastefully arranged. The walls were artistically draped with green and white, the club colors. Hart's full orchestra, of five pieces, of Indianapolis, furnished the music. The balcony occupied by the orchestra, was also profusely decorated with flowers appropriate for the season.

A neat program of very desirable numbers had been arranged, and those present were much impressed with the arrangement, decorations and music. Everyone seemed to contribute to the pleasure of the evening, and the ladies were dressed very beautifully.

The event was the final one of the season and many out-of-town guests were invited to attend. Among those present from a distance were:

Mr. and Mrs. Webb, Woodfill, Will and Iva Lanham, Fred Thomas and Sam Ardery, of Greensburg; Miss Minnie Burt, of Cincinnati; Miss Frances Murphy, of Oxford, O.; Miss Gale Purvis, of Kokomo; Homer Geyton, of Cambridge City; Mr. Haynes, of Richmond; and Mrs. George Bliss and Miss May Bliss, of Indianapolis.

Experiments now concluded on the banks of the Nile show the quality of the cotton grown there to be equal of any in the world. There are available fifteen million acres of irrigated land, and only hands to work it are lacking.

The Cuban legislature was not formally opened yesterday, on account of disorder resulting from a contest over the recent elections.

In the Chicago American of Sunday there is a head line reading: "Michael Farley Drops Dead from Heart Disease." We wonder what will happen to the proof-reader.—The Sentinel.

Two Democrats emptied their guns at each other at Lawton, O. T., yesterday, after the organization of the county committee. Must have represented the "reorganizers" and the "Hearst boomers."

The mention of Mayor Holtzman, of Indianapolis, as a probable candidate on the Democratic ticket for Vice President, and the mention by Republicans of Senator Fairbanks for the same place is a fair sample of the relative force and greatness of two parties. Without saying anything disrespectful about our friend Holtzman, we would like to remark that its a long ways from Fairbanks to Holtzman, and no honest Democrat will contradict or discuss that fact as the difference in the two men is too manifest.

Populace Screening Murderers.

Urumsyah, Persia, April 5.—General Midjid Saltan, who has been charged by the Persian authorities with the task of discovering the murderer of Rev. Benjamin W. Labaree, son of Dr. Benjamin Labaree, superintendent of the American mission, has returned here and reports that the murderer, whose name is Seid, was found at a place where he had been hidden, but that the populace declined to give him up.

Arrested in Missouri.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 5.—A dispatch to Chief of Police Kohler of this city announces the arrest at St. Joseph, Mo., of George F. Clewell, the missing secretary and treasurer of the assigned Federal Trust company of this city.

Requested Them to Withdraw.

Guru, Tibet, April 5.—The British mission to Tibet, accompanied by Col. MacDonald's flying column, has arrived here. A Chinese general from L'Hassa visited Colonel Younghusband and requested that the mission withdraw.

DEMOCRATS FRIGHTENED

Action at Indianapolis Shows Fear of Hearst Boom.

Indianapolis, April 5.—The Democrats here have at last shown unmistakably that they are afraid of William R. Hearst, and their public acknowledgment came yesterday when Jos. T. Fanning, district chairman, and Charles B. Clarke, county chairman, combined to issue calls for the primaries to choose delegates to the state convention on next Friday. This is an unheard-of procedure and would never have been resorted to had not the managers been frightened. It has been the custom from time immemorial for both parties to select their delegates here the night before the convention. This has been done for the very purpose of making it unnecessary for candidates to spend large sums in trying to line up ward delegations after they had been chosen. That the Democrats have broken the old program can only be explained on the ground that the leaders had good reasons for doing so. Hearst is the reason. His boom campaign which has been propagated purely by the lavish use of money, has frightened the managers who are opposed to him. They control the organization and they called the primaries to suit themselves. In all quarters yesterday after the fact that the call had been sent out became known there was a great deal of talk and the consensus of opinion is that the one and only reason is Hearst.

Indianapolis just now is apparently the abiding place of a gang of experienced sneak thieves and clever crooks, and their success in operating has begun to worry the police not a little. Night after night the men have plied their nefarious business, and as a result scores of people are the losers. In most instances the thieves have not been well rewarded for their work, as the houses entered have not been well stocked. But in at least one instance they secured enough booty to make them care to stay here. This was in robbing the home of Medford B. Wilson, president of the Columbia National bank. His home was entered by a porch climber, who carried off about $3,000 worth of valuables. A servant who happened to go upstairs saw the thief jump out of a window on her approach, but the man escaped. The police have taken extra precautions, and they have established a system which promises to soon put the gang out of business. This is to hold up suspicious looking characters of all kinds and make them give an account of themselves. Any man who cannot give a satisfactory explanation will be arrested.

The laundrymen of the state are just now having their inning in the city. There are state organizations of nearly every trade and business industry in the state, and they take their turns in keeping things going here and of making news for the papers. Now it is the time for the laundrymen and they are having a good time. The laundrymen all say their organization is not for the purpose of fixing rates, and indeed they point out that it would be difficult for them to make any price regulations inasmuch as conditions vary in every city. The association is really a big club, where they hold meetings once a year to renew acquaintances and hold social sessions. At the same time business propositions are discussed and papers on subjects relating to various phases of their trade are read. More attention is given to the social end than to anything else, however, and this was shown last night, when all the members turned out to attend a theater party and afterward went to a luncheon at the German House.

Indianapolis promises to become a bidder for another national convention this year, and that is the biennial meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Los Angeles was originally selected as the convention city, but objections have been raised to it by Eastern delegates. Several of the smaller roads in the East have declined to furnish their employees with transportation. If the men have to pay their way they do not want to go so far. Cleveland has been suggested as an intermediate point which would prove advantageous. Local men have become interested, however, and they say if the convention town is to be changed they want the gathering held here. The central location of the city will eventually win for Indianapolis, they believe if the question is ever opened up.

Murder in Reformatory.

Jeffersonville, Ind., April 5.—The Clark county grand jury, to be drawn next Monday, will have to consider the case of Herman Gehrs, the convict, who killed Cyrus Berry, a fellow convict, Jan. 7, without the slightest provocation. Gehrs had been in the reformatory but a few days when he assaulted Berry, crushing his skull. He died in a few hours.

Marines on Guard.

Panama, April 5.—The railroad switchmen have joined in the strike of the railroad laborers. United States marines will be landed on the wharves and other property of the railroad, which the soldiers of the republic are now patrolling.

Lawton, Okla., April 5.—When the Democratic convention had assembled here Colonel Hawkins, a sergeant-at-arms of the legislature, was shot three times and fatally wounded by Editor Russell. He returned the fire, but without effect.

A ROUSING SPEECH

William M Taylor Sounds a Stirring Note at Seventh District Convention.

Indianapolis Journal, April 3:

Hon. William L. Taylor, chairman of the seventh district convention, which nominated Congressman Overstreet on Saturday, spoke as follows on assuming the gavel:

"Von Holst, the great political historian, says that political parties exist as a means to an end and not as an end in themselves; that the moment a party ceases to have a fixed policy as an end, that moment its excuse for existing ceases.

"The Republican party has always existed as a means to an end; it has always had a fixed purpose and has always known just what that purpose was. It has always been able to state it and it has always had the ability and the courage to transform its principles into positive laws. Those laws have been tried and approved.

"The Democratic party formerly was a means to an end. It formerly had purposes and plans. Today it has neither. It is a leaderless, purposeless mass. It is simply drifting with the tide. Like a ship without her rudder, it will wash upon the rocks this fall. Its only avowed end is to find some landing place. It has elected but one president since 1856, and he has been in exile for eight years. The conspicuous figure who has been at the head for the last eight years is now on his way to St. Helena. You cannot put the pictures of these two leaders side by side in any Democratic convention without starting a row. The Democratic party today is quaking lest the new 'yellow peril,' yellow in journalism and yellow in money, should sweep the Democracy from its feet and secure the presidential nomination at St. Louis. The Indiana Democracy is violently agitated. It is trembling between hope and fear—hope that some full-armed leader will walk out of the wilderness; despair lest Hearst be nominated.

"How different with the Republican party. Its platform could be written by any schoolboy. Its leaders are already named by the common consent of 8,000,000 sovereign voters. Every township convention in this country that meets today can write a platform that can safely be adopted at Chicago. The story of the Republican party this year is an open book.

"Every principle the Republican party has advocated since 1856 has become a fixed fact in the laws of the country. Every proposition the Democratic party has advocated during that time is as dead as the Caesars. It is a remarkable fact that the last avowed purpose of the Democratic party is the first one it now denies.

"The chairman of the Republican state committee has invited to sit upon the platform at the state convention those men who participated in the Republican state convention of 1856. These venerable patriots can read upon the walls every proposition the Republican party has advocated since the first convention. They illumine the first convention. Not a line has been erased or blurred. These men voted for Fremont and did not regret it. Not one of them bows his head in shame over a single act of commission or omission. They see the faces of our great leaders looking down from the walls and they are proud of them all. Not a single picture is turned to the wall. From Fremont to Roosevelt we are proud of them all.

"How is it with the Democratic party? Every line written by that party during these forty-eight years of glorious history has been erased. Every leader has been discredited. We look hopefully to the future; they look doubtfully at the past. We know what we are going to do and the name of our commander; they do not know what they will do nor who will command them.

"We know that we are going to nominate the capable, earnest and energetic Jesse Overstreet for congress. Some congressmen talk and do not work. Some work and do not talk. Jesse Overstreet both works and talks.

"We also know that we are going to elect a Republican legislature this year and that we are going to re-elect the brilliant and capable junior senator, Albert J. Beveridge. We know that we are going to nominate and elect as a successor to Lincoln, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Harrison and McKinley, the intrepid, honest, brave, fearless and competent leader, Theodore Roosevelt. We know that we are going to stand by the flag wherever she floats, as we have always done. We know that we are going to stand by the boy who wears the blue shirt of the American soldier, in whatever sun or climate he marches or sleeps. We know that everywhere around this world he will carry the torch of civilization in one hand and the flag in the other, and that wherever he goes the blessings of civil liberty and civic righteousness will follow.

A Fitting Indorsement.

The resolutions adopted by the convention contained the following paragraph: "We invite the attention of the Republicans of Indiana to the candidacy of the Hon. William L. Taylor for the nomination for the governorship of Indiana. Able, courageous, and widely experienced in the business affairs of the people of the state, we commend and indorse his candidacy for the office of governor, and express our belief that no man in the state is better qualified or equipped for the discharge of the duties of that high office than he."

A MYSTERIOUS VALENTINE

An Original Story in Three Parts, Written by Mrs. Kate Churchill-Allen, Mrs. Dr. Wooden and Miss Dove Meredith Respectively, and Read before the Monday Circle Feb. 14th.

Continued

I will not dwell on how Jeanette, her heart full of fear, noted her nephew's absence, and without a word to anyone donned her wraps and went in search of him. He was not hard to trace. The clerks in the big store had seen and recognized him—one of them had seen him speak to the old fellow who lived down near the race. Anxiety and alarm almost overcoming her; she started in the direction of the race, only to be met by a hideous, loathsome creature, who seemed to be carrying a child. And—yes it was no other than the Pessimist and her lost laddie. It was a picture to be remembered. The bonny, dear head of her boy lay cuddled up against the filthy shoulder of the man. One chubby arm was around the grimy neck, and the child was really smiling as he dreamed. And the Pessimist! The kindness of this confiding child would never be forgotten. The poor man's whole dark life was brightened, his aching heart for the time forgot its misery, and it was the kind sympathetic, helpful fingers of a little child that had wrought this joy. Nothing so sweet and pure had touched him since the hand of his mother had patted his and said "You must grow up into a good man, dear." The recollection staggered him and he almost dropped his precious burden. Well, he would be a man. He would try once more.

Here his reverie and resolutions were interrupted by Jeanette, who joyously greeted him. Getting Earnest home did not allay her fears, however, for his labored breathing and flushed cheeks betokened illness, and when the physician came, he was very grave as he prescribed treatment. He greatly feared the effects of the exposure would prove too much for the delicately reared child. When morning came their worst fears were realized.

I will not detail the illness that ensued or how for days little Earnest seemed to wander to the very verge of the Great Beyond. How his plaintive calls for the Pessimist, aunt Jeanette and uncle Paul rang out constantly. And when those who were there answered the cries, all they could do was to go away unrecognized from the bedside. Nor will I dwell on the change in the Pessimist. Through Jeanette's influence, employment was given him, and cleansed, clothed and encouraged, he came, a new creature, each day to inquire after his little friend. How much this boy's interest and love had done for him and was yet to be done would make too long a story.

While Earnest fights for his life, attended almost constantly by his aunt, come with me to a Western city. It is Valentine morning, but Paul Wilson, busy with the cares that consume active, business men, had given the sentiment of the day no thought. Seating himself at his desk to look over his mail, as is his custom, he looks for the unbusiness-like letters first. Strange? No, for this young man's friends are all in the East and their letters are to him the tonic that buoy him up and makes his life in the West endurable. Eagerly he sorts them out. "Yes, there's one from Ned—he is faithful; and one from Dan—dear college friends. But whose writing is that. Surely a lady's hand. It is not his sister's and there's no other woman, except one, and she would never write. No fate would not be so kind as to grant him a letter from Jeanette."

Isolated, as he had been, in a way, his only friends being business ones,

Paul had cherished all the more his unconfessed love for Jeanette. Some way it has been an oasis in the dry desert of business cares. That she cares for him in the least he never dares to hope. Jeanette, with her gay ways and saucy smiles is not for him. Oh, Cupid, why do you so mischievously mix up the affairs of man and maid. There's one thing certain, and Paul squares his broad shoulders, there'll be no other. It's Jeanette for him, or none. He would never own it but his fingers are trembling as he opens the dainty envelope. I looked over his shoulder and I saw. What is it? A something lace trimmed, with colors of blue and gold and—why, the idea! It's a valentine. Mystery of mysteries! His bachelor face is a study. How mysterious; who would send such a thing to him? And such a gaudy, loud one. As if afraid of his scornful smile, the homeless valentine flutters to the floor, discreetly hiding its vivid, lace trimmed face. And there on the back, smiling up at him, written in a girlish hand, were these words, "I love you." It was enough to make the "throbber" of any masculine heart beat at random. Especially when that heart has just decided to "be alone, always." He does not dare to pick it up for fear that he will awaken and find it all a dream, or the fancy of an over-taxed brain, but he stares at it as if hypnotized. The incongruity of it all never dawns on him, all he sees is that sentence, that writing betokens a cultured hand.

Here is a mystery for him. He might have sat there and stared until now had not the office boy entered, and with him the stern realization to Paul that the "mysterious valentine" must be put aside for awhile. In the rush and bustle of the day's business he has little time to dwell on the possibilities of his valentine. In the evening a telegram comes calling him to the bedside of his nephew. Hastily arranging his affairs for a prolonged absence, he makes the first train East, and all through his journey the thought that he cannot spare his beloved Earnest, and that he will see Jeanette. In a few hours he stands in the quiet sick-room, holding the feverish hand of the little knight who, in trying to help "one of the least of these," has almost forfeited his life. The lips that have called for "Uncle Paul" know not his kiss when he comes. All that medical skill can do has been done, there is nothing left but to await the decision of the Great Physician. Will he let him stay or call him home? Paul's meeting with Jeanette was but little more than formal. Their hearts full of grief, few words are exchanged.

Rheumatism Vanishes.

This troublesome disease, as we all know, is caused by impure blood. Impure blood is more often than otherwise the result of a torpid liver and inactivity of the digestive organs. Get and keep your digestive organs in good running order and the blood will purify itself—then Rheumatism disappears. There is no treatment or remedy more effective in the relief and permanent cure of all ailments arising from a sluggish liver, like Rheumatism, Indigestion, Headaches, Kidney troubles, Nervousness, etc., than

STATE NEWS.

Evansville, Ind., April 5.—All the streams in southern Indiana will probably be back in their channels by the last of the week. As the water is receding slowly the farmers have abandoned all hopes of saving their wheat crops, and the wheat ground will be plowed up and planted in corn.

There are many people living in White river bottoms in the second story of their homes and cannot be reached by the boats. They must remain there until the backwater recedes. A fair estimate of the property and crop losses along the Wabash and White rivers is $400,000.

BANKERS IN TROUBLE

Officers of Defunct Institution Charged With Embezzlement.

Auburn, Ind., April 5.—Albert Robbins, president of the defunct Farmers' bank, and his son Edward, who was cashier, have been arrested on information filed before Squire Walters, charging them with embezzlement. The complaints were sworn to by Isaac Baughman and Charles Bolton, who were depositors, the former depositing $400 the day previous to the closing of the bank. Messrs. Robbins gave bond for their appearance, signed by F. E. Rehart and T. F. Timmerman, leading carriage manufacturers. There is considerable speculation as to why the information was filed with the justice, when the circuit court is now in session.

Late Spring Causes Suicide.

Richmond, Ind., April 5.—William Morgan, a farmer near Centerville, committed suicide, using a shotgun, the discharge tearing away his head. He was forty-six years old and owned a farm of sixty acres in Center township. He was well-to-do and stood well with his neighbors. For several weeks he has been despondent and worried over the lateness of the spring weather, which delayed his farm work. Several times recently he talked of taking his life. His wife, hearing the report of the gun, ran to his side, only to find him dead. A note lying on the table bade farewell to his wife, and simply said that he intended to end his troubles by shooting himself.

Well Known Man Missing.

Logansport, Ind., April 5.—Sol D. Brandt, president of the Hoosier Poultry and Kennel club and owner of Cedar Island, a summer resort in the Wabash river, is missing. It is supposed that he drowned in the Wabash floods, as the water surrounding his summer home has risen twenty feet. While rowing in this torrent it is presumed his canoe upset. He originated the plan of beautifying Cedar Island, where seventy summer homes are building for wealthy owners in Louisville, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Chicago. He was noted throughout Indiana as a dog fancier and a breeder of St. Bernards.

Boy Made Murderous Threat.

Frankfort, Ind., April 5.—David Thompson, fifteen years old, is in jail here to prevent him carrying out a threat to murder his stepfather, Oliver Evans. When the police arrested Thompson he was armed with a club and was trying to get into the house of his stepfather. He told the police that if he could have secured a revolver Evans would have been dead before they arrived.

Funeral by Water.

Washington, Ind., April 5.—Mary, the daughter of William Martin, one of the refugees from the district flooded by White river, is dead of pneumonia. The family was forced to flee from home in a small boat, and took refuge in an old deserted schoolhouse. The water rose rapidly and it was soon surrounded. The body was taken in a boat to the cemetery four miles away.

City Locating Factories.

Laporte, Ind., April 5.—Contracts have been signed here for the removal to this city of the Edwards Headlight company from Cincinnati. The city provides the company with a factory building and employment will ultimately be given to fifty men. This is the sixth factory secured within a year, with a total of about 800 men.

Despondent Over Illness.

Indianapolis, April 5.—Eva Crossby, aged nineteen years, committed suicide by taking morphine. Despondency over her recent illness is assigned as the cause.

Struck by Interurban Car.

Shelbyville, Ind., April 5.—Anderson Gore, aged seventy-two years, was struck by an interurban car at Walser station and instantly killed.

HORSEMEN.

Should bear in mind that the Republican office is headquarters for all kinds of horse printing, such as bills, folders, cards, catalogues, etc. Low prices prevail. Do not fail to buy a Stallion Service Book, for sale at this office.

RUSHVILLE, IND., APRIL 5, 1904

LOCAL BREVITIES

The Pastor's Aid Society of the Christian church met this afternoon.

The funeral of Andrew Gore, who was killed by an interurban car, near Shelbyville, Sunday, was held this afternoon.

The auxiliary meeting of the C. W. B. M. meets at the home of Mrs. Elmer Hume, of North Harrison street, Wednesday afternoon.

F. B. Johnson, the druggist, is having a new ware-room built in the rear of his store. The men are now busy tearing away the old one.

It makes a granger hot under the collar to sell a fat hog for 4 cents a pound and have to pay 18 cents for smoked ham. He should learn how to cure his own bacon and hams.

Outfielder Hogriever, of the Indianapolis team, who has long been a favorite will not play ball this year, but will travel for a cigar firm. He is known by all the "fans" over the State, and many Rushville persons interested in base ball will be sorry to hear of his retirement.

The board of directors of the Rush county Fair Association will meet at the office of the secretary next Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. At 10 o'clock a. m. they will meet the chief engineer of the I. & C. Traction company to consider the right of way through the fair grounds.

The laundry wagon horse is of different age, and a little stiff in the joints, but the spring morning breeze and the green grass created in this same horse a desire to "run off." The horse started and might have created a panic, and brought terror to those on the street had not Harry Seaman setpped out and stopped the horse in its "mad" flight.

An article concerning the condition of Mrs. Jas. Hinchman of this city, was made unreadable by a transposition of the lines in yesterday's daily. It should have read: "Mrs. Jas. Hinchman, who fell down a cellar-way, a few weeks ago, was hurt worse than was at first supposed and is not able to be about. Her back or spine seems to have been injured."

An exchange says the question of Hearst's running mate has been neatly solved by the Lake county Democratic convention in South Dakota. The resolutions indorse Hearst for President, and Senator Money-to-Burn Clark, of Montana, for vice-President. Hearst and Clark, worth together half a billion of dollars, would be simply ideal in an appeal to the down-trodden masses.

William Morgan, a farmer, near Centerville, committed suicide, yesterday, by using a shot gun, the discharge tearing away his head. He was forty-six years old, and owned a farm of sixty acres in Center township. He was well-to-do, and stood well with his neighbors. For several weeks he has been despondent, and worried over the lateness of the spring weather, which delayed his farm work.

Greensburg News: Clarence Donnell has concluded to abandon his proposed tour, for the present, with the Minneapolis ball club. Clarence is making a success of his business, and the managers of his company have made a proposition that has induced him to continue at his present business. Now that Clarence has concluded to remain here, the talk of a local organization will revive and bring forth fruit.

The Second division of the Pastor's Aid Society of St. Paul's M. E. church will have a rummage sale at Mock's second hand store, on Morgan street, Saturday, April 9th.

Several gentlemen were seen about town this morning with a white ribbon, which will be worn by the delegates to the State Prohibition convention held in Indianapolis, today.

The contract for supplies for the county infirmary was let this morning. Tompkins Grocery got the grocery contract; Bliss & Cowing, the clothing, and Mauzy & Denning, the dry goods.

The P. O. S. of A. lodge initiated three candidates into the mysteries of their order last night, after which they listened to an address by Mr. Mundy, the head of the order in this State.

Ora Billings, who fell off the roof of his barn, north of town, yesterday, broke his right arm in two places. In one fracture the bone had protruded through the skin and had been jammed into the ground.

Scott Branham, the horse trainer, met with a slight accident at the fair grounds, yesterday. The hook of a bridle bit, with which he was holding a vicious horse, flew off and hit him in the eye, penetrating the eye lid and causing some pain.

The annual district meeting of Red Men will be held at New Castle Thursday, and elaborate preparations are being made. Invitations have been issued to sixty tribes and a large crowd is expected. High officials of the order will be present for instruction of the unwritten law of the order. There will be a parade in the afternoon, followed by a big banquet in the evening.

John Brown and John Maher, two employees at the power house were arrested by Marshal Pearsey, last evening, and lodged in jail, on the charge of public intoxication. One of the men was so drunk that he had to be taken to jail on a drag. In police court this morning, both plead guilty to the charge, and were fined $1 and costs, amounting to $9.65 each. They are still in jail.

Negotiations have been completed whereby New Castle gets the large plant of the Chicago Steel Manufacturing company, whose plant at Hammond was recently destroyed by fire. The bonus asked by the company was raised by popular subscription and the factory will be erected as soon as the weather will permit. The factory will consume fifteen tons of steel daily in the manufacture of its products and will employ 300 men.
